COMMUNITY COLLEGE HUMANITIES ASSOCIATION

1. CCHA held five regional conferences in Fall 2012 as follows: The Pacific-Western Division conference was held October 25-27 at The Nines Hotel in Portland, OR and the host college was Portland Community College; the Southern Division conference was held at The Seelbach Hilton in Louisville, KY, October 18-20. The host college was Jefferson Community & Technical College. The Central Division conference was held October 11-13 at the Sheraton Iowa City Hotel in Iowa City, IA. Kirkwood Community College was the host college. The Southwestern Division conference was held at The Adolphus in Dallas, TX, November 1-3, 2012. Collin College served as the host college. The Eastern Division conference was held at Le Meridien in Cambridge, MA, November 15-17, 2012. The host college was Bunker Hill Community College. The Call for Proposals and Conference Programs provide complete information and can be viewed on our website at www.ccha-assoc.org.

2. The five Regional Distinguished Humanities Educator awards were presented at the Division conferences.

3. The first National Conference of the two-year, NEH funded project, Advancing the Humanities at Community Colleges: A NEH Bridging Cultures Project, was held in Washington, D.C., September 26-26, 2012. The 18 participating college teams were competitively selected from over 80 applications. The selected colleges are: Black River Technical College (AR), Community College of Baltimore County (MD), Delaware County Community College (PA), Delta College (MI), Georgia Perimeter College (GA), Heartland Community College (IL), Kanawha Valley Community & Technical College (WV), Kirkwood Community College (IA), Hopkinsville Community College (KY), New Hampshire Technical Institute (NH), Peninsula College (WA), Phillips Community College (AR), Pierpont Community College (WV), San Antonio College
Approved by AACC Board of Directors, April 20, 2013
(TX), St. Louis Community College (MO), South Piedmont Community College (NC), Tarrant County College, SE Campus (TX), Trident Technical College (SC). The curriculum and faculty development projects will advance cultural and civic understanding in introductory humanities courses.

4. CCHA sponsored two NEH funded 2013 Summer Institutes: The first Summer Institute "Transcendentalism and Social Action in the Age of Emerson, Thoreau, and Fuller" was held in Concord, Massachusetts from July 7th to July 20th, 2013. It was directed by Sterling Delano (Villanova) with the assistance of Diane Whitley Bogard (Austin Community College). The second Summer Institute, "India's Past and the Making of the Present," was held in New Delhi, India from July 1st to July 26th, 2013. It was directed by Beverly Blois (Northern Virginia Community College) and Daniel Ehnborn(University of Virginia). The two NEH Summer Institutes for Summer 2012 are concluding with dissemination activities, completed curriculum units, and final reports: “Mesoamerica and the Southwest: A New History for an Ancient Land," which was held on site in Mexico City and Sante Fe, NM, June 17 - July 23 and directed by George Scheper (Community College of Baltimore County) and Laraine Fletcher (Adelphi University), and “The Legacy of Ancient Italy: The Etruscan and Early Roman City," held on site in Orvieto, Italy, June 5 - 25, and directed by Gregory Warden (Southern Methodist University) and Carole Lester ( Richland College, TX).

5. CCHA continued to collaborate with the National Humanities Alliance to sponsor Humanities Advocacy Day—both the conference and the advocacy activities in Washington, D.C. that aim to strengthen Congressional support for the National Endowment for the Humanities and other agencies supporting the humanities. CCHA serves on the planning committee. The events were held March 18-19, 2013.

6. CCHA sponsored a Forum, a Breakfast, a Reception and an Exhibit Booth at the AACC Convention in April in San Francisco. The Board of Directors meeting was held in conjunction with the AACC Convention.

7. CCHA conducted its annual Literary Magazine Competition. The winners were recognized at the five regional conferences (see above). The national winner
