American Association of Community Colleges

Issue # 090

Dear Tina,

AACC isn't slowing down for the summer. This week, we had two big events: Advocates in Action, where we worked to advance our advocacy efforts, and the Community College Innovation Challenge boot camp and reception on Capitol Hill. You can read about those in the "Must Know" section. We also learned that the U.S. Department of Education plans to revise gainful employment and loan forgiveness regulations. Learn more about that here.

MUST READ

"Helping Adults Get Back on Track"

Tennessee's new free-tuition program for adult learners has community colleges in the state spreading the word to prospective students. But the effort is more than just promoting the new scholarship program. It includes addressing questions older learners may have. Read about it in CC Daily.

"Partnering for New Collar Job Training"

IBM is partnering with community colleges to deliver job training for in-demand tech jobs, or "New Collar" jobs. Learn about it at the 21st Century Center.
