Get fair, reliable student feedback to improve teaching and learning.

Course evaluations are an effective way to measure the quality of teaching and instructor performance. The research-based SIR II® Student Instructional Report is a fair and easy-to-use rating tool that objectively captures students’ perceptions of their course experiences in only 15 minutes or less.

The SIR II Report offers the key data and analyses you need, including:

- reliable insight into students’ perspectives on eight dimensions of college instruction
- data to support recognition for instructor performance and excellence in teaching
- detailed information on teacher effectiveness for accreditation
- a free compendium of suggestions on how to improve college teaching

Compare your classes with others throughout the nation.

Comparative data from nearly one million students in more than 65,000 two-year and 117,000 four-year college courses nationwide allows you to compare your classes and instructors to similar classes across the country. Data for more than 25 subject areas, full- and part-time instructors, and different class sizes, levels and types are all reported separately for two- and four-year institutions.

Get the data to prove it.

Delivered three ways — choose the format that best suits your needs.

The SIR II® Report is available in three easy-to-administer formats — online, paper-and-pencil and an option appropriate for distance-learning programs/students:

- SIR II online survey
  – Secure, web-based delivery helps institutions reduce faculty administration time.
- e-SIR survey
  – Created for distance-learning programs.
- Paper-and-pencil survey
  – Distributed, administered and collected during class time.
