Who We Are

Working for Community Colleges

Facilitating the 21st-Century Initiative
AACC is positioned to help the nation’s community, junior, and technical colleges refocus their missions and redefine their roles to meet 21st-century education and employment needs with the release of the 21st-Century Implementation Guide. www.aacc21stCenturyCenter.org

Building Leadership Capacity
AACC provides exemplary professional development for current and up-and-coming community college leaders, growing the field and ensuring administrators are prepared. Visit “Events” on AACC’s website for a complete listing of AACC meetings and seminars and to view other professional development opportunities for higher education professionals.

Maximizing Resources to Community Colleges
AACC supports legislation and member-driven efforts to create new incentives for institutions and their students to make student success and completion a priority. Collaboration with philanthropy, government at the federal and state levels, and the private sector drives these initiatives.

Keeping You Informed
AACC’s print and online publications keep you up-to-date and engaged.

www.AACC.nche.edu is an abundant resource for data, news, professional development, job listings, and more.

Community College Journal is a trusted resource for trends, best practices, and analysis. Offered in print, digitally, and as an app. www.aacc.nche.edu/CCJournal

Community College Daily is your must-read, daily news source. Sign up for daily e-mail updates. www.CCDaily.com

CEO to CEO Newsletter is a biweekly electronic newsletter to community college CEOs from AACC’s president and CEO.

About AACC
Founded in 1920, the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) is the primary advocacy organization for the nation’s community colleges. The association represents nearly 1,200 2-year, associate degree-granting institutions and more than 13 million students.

AACC is governed by a 32-member board of directors, elected for 3-year staggered terms.

Thank You Members
AACC supports the valuable work of 90% of America’s community, technical, and junior colleges. Your support of the activities and programs of the association is greatly appreciated and will help AACC to continue to provide the services you find so valuable.

Preparing Community College Leaders
About 75% of community college CEOs participating in an AACC survey plan to retire within the next 10 years, with another 15% eyeing retirement in 11–15 years. To stem the oncoming leadership gap, AACC’s Leadership Suite offers professional development opportunities for community college leaders looking to advance their career to a higher level at their college and to keep current on coming trends. More information about AACC’s programming can be found at www.aacc.nche.edu/leadershipsuite.

Community College Trends and Statistics
AACC is a source for data and research members can use in fundraising and advocacy. Find information about student enrollment and degree attainment, CEO salary survey results, and the vital role community colleges play in their communities at www.aacc.nche.edu/CCStats.

21st-Century Center
Along with the unveiling of Empowering Community Colleges To Build the Nation’s Future: An Implementation Guide this year, AACC has created the 21st-Century Center, a resource for community colleges to enhance their efforts and share promising practices as they redesign students’ educational experiences, reinvent institutional roles, and reset the system so it better promotes student success.
